In 1888, Norway's Fridtjof Nansen completed the first traverse of Greenland on skis in an epic journey of hardship and discovery. Nansen built large sleds for the journey which were the first of their kind and required several men to haul them. To this day, to ski unsupported across Greenland is an adventure of the highest degree. It is a spectacular and rewarding journey and is also ideal training for Antarctic and Arctic travel.

In April and May of 2026, Adventure Consultants will embark on a ski traverse across the icy interior of Greenland, the world's largest island. We all owe it to ourselves to express our true spirit of adventure, now you can achieve it on this amazing journey through a true Arctic wilderness.

Even with the latest communications equipment in our kit and reliable aircraft support as backup, this crossing is still a major achievement in itself, or ideal expedition for developing endurance and skills for longer polar odysseys.

We have programmed our traverse to take place over the early summer season when conditions are the most favourable and we can anticipate temperatures in the range of -25°C/-13°F on the coldest days. If you have a good level of fitness and are a team player then we welcome you to apply for a place on the expedition team.

HOW THE EXPEDITION OPERATES

The group will meet in Reykjavík, Iceland, for team introductions and final equipment preparations. The following morning, we will fly to Kulusuk in Greenland, and transfer on to nearby Tasiilaq. Here we will board a helicopter to fly us onto the ice cap and the beginning of the adventure.

Each day the team will haul sleds for an average of 18–20km/11–12.5 miles, with scheduled stops at regular intervals for food and liquid. At the beginning of the traverse, the sleds will weigh around 75kg/165lb, with all the provisions for the entire journey.

At the completion of each day's journey, the team will assemble tents and camp duties will be shared amongst the members.

The expedition will gradually climb to the high point of the ice cap at around 2,500m/8,200ft, before beginning the long descent towards Greenland's west coast.

At the end of the traverse, we will descend from the glacier to meet vehicle transport for the drive to Kangerslusuaq. From here, we will fly to Nuuk and on to Reykjavík and the official end of the expedition.

PREREQUISITE EXPERIENCE

Team members will require previous backcountry winter experience on skis and the ability to work well within a team environment. The nature of this expedition demands strong team cohesion and commitment. An essential ingredient for participants is physical fortitude for working hard in a cold weather environment hence each member must be strong and healthy.

THE ADVANTAGES OF CLIMBING WITH ADVENTURE CONSULTANTS

Adventure Consultants is renowned for the quality of its service and strategy applied to high altitude expedition climbing and polar travel. Our reputation is attributed to meticulous planning and experienced logistics coordination. We have a philosophy of investing in every expedition to offer our climbers the best possible chance of success.

We employ strong and specialised Expedition Leaders and support staff, who are some of the most pre-eminent in the industry. We pride ourselves on operating with small teams with the best back-up and support available. This includes nutritious and ample quantities of food, comfortable base camp facilities, reliable communications systems and the necessary medical back up.

Many of our expedition members come to us because they have seen us in action on a previous trip and decide to opt for our level of service and proven experience. Others return because they know we do our very best to make expeditions safe and successful.

FOOD

Food will be of the highest standard possible, given the remoteness of the situation. As we are hauling all of the requisite equipment and food for a month-long period, it is usual for food to be somewhat monotonous! However, we do our best to plan our cuisine to be varied and nourishing to ensure energy levels are maintained. Please inform us if you have any special dietary requirements.

SAFETY & COMMUNICATIONS

To safeguard members of the expedition, we will be carrying a satellite telephone and a Personal Locator Beacon.

Evacuation insurance whilst on the traverse is included in the expedition fee, but is limited to cover legitimate accident only and evacuation will be to the nearest port within Greenland. We require expedition members to carry additional insurance for evacuation and repatriation as well as normal travel medical expenses. Contact us for expedition insurance advice.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION

Expedition members will be provided with a medical questionnaire and asked to visit their family physician to receive a full medical examination.

This information will be sighted by our medical adviser and the guides only and will be treated with full confidentiality.

TRAVEL TO REYKJAVÍK

There are regular flights from destinations around the UK/Europe and North America into Iceland's main international terminal at Keflavík Airport. Regular shuttles depart from the airport for the 50km/30 mile journey into Reykjavík, and will drop off at your accommodation.

VISAS

Generally, entry visas are not required for travellers staying less than three months in Greenland, but please check with your travel agent. The expedition ski permits are a separate matter dealt with by the expedition agent.

DOCUMENTATION & PHOTOGRAPHS

Expedition members will need to provide a passport photograph for permits and a copy of their passport biodata page.

EQUIPMENT LIST

Equipment has improved dramatically since Nansen's time, allowing us to undertake this significant adventure with considerably less hardship! However, the equipment we do take must be of the highest quality and appropriate for our specific requirements.

Expedition members will be sent a list detailing all the necessary clothing and equipment. Obviously, weight is everything and we will rationalise every item we carry. A gear check will be carried out prior to departing Reykjavík to allow us to finalise loads.

Adventure Consultants will supply all group gear (e.g. tents, stoves, food and sleds), whilst expedition members are to provide their own personal clothing and equipment including skis, skins and boots.
